4.3 Standard Penetration Test (SPT)

This test shall be conducted in all types of soil deposits met within the bore hole to find the variation in the soil stratification by correlating with the number of blows required for unit penetration of a standard penetrometer. This test shall be conducted at every 1.5 m interval alternate to collection of UDS up to 10m depth below ground level and at every 3.0 m interval alternate to collection of UDS beyond 10m depth, at every change of strata, at depths wherever undisturbed soil samples could not be collected and as per the directions of the engineer-in-charge. The starting depth of performing SPT shall be 1m below ground level unless otherwise specified. The depth interval between the top level of standard penetration test and to that of (next) undisturbed sampling shall not be less than 0.5m. The specification for equipment and other accessories, procedure for conducting the test, presentation of test results and collection of disturbed soil samples etc shall conform to IS: 2131.

This test shall be carried out by driving a standard split spoon sampler in the borehole by means of a 63.5 kg hammer having a free fall of 0.75m. The sampler shall be driven using the hammer for 450 mm penetration. While driving, the number of blows for every 150 mm penetration and the penetration for every 50 blows shall be recorded. The number of blows for the last 300 mm drive shall be reported as 'N' value. This test shall be discontinued when the blow count is equal to 100 and the penetration shall be recorded. Refusal shall be considered to be met with when the blow count is equal to 100. At the location where the test is discontinued, the penetration and the corresponding number of blows shall be reported. Sufficient quantity of disturbed soil samples shall be collected from the split spoon sampler for identification and laboratory testing. The samples shall be visually classified & recorded at the site and shall be properly preserved and labeled for future identification & testing.

4.4 Sampling

4.4.1 General

- a. Sufficient number of soil samples shall be collected for reliable estimation of soil properties. The samples collected shall be either disturbed or undisturbed. Disturbed soil samples shall be collected for field identification and conducting laboratory tests such as sieve analysis, index properties, specific gravity, chemical analysis etc. Undisturbed samples shall be collected to estimate physical, strength and settlement properties of the soil.
- b. All the accessories required for sampling and the method of sampling shall conform to IS: 2132. All disturbed and undisturbed samples collected in the field shall be classified at site as per IS: 1498.
- c. All the samples shall be identified with date, bore hole number, depth of sampling etc. It is also essential to mark an arrow pointing towards the top surface of the undisturbed sample as the soil was in-situ. Care shall be taken to keep the undisturbed soil samples and box samples vertically with the arrow directing upwards. The tube samples shall be properly trimmed at both ends and suitably sealed with molten paraffin wax at both ends immediately after extracting the samples from the bore hole/trial pit and suitably capped on both sides.
- d. When the contractor fails to collect undisturbed soil sample at a specified depth, the borehole shall be advanced by 0.50m and shall be performed with a standard penetration test. The reason for not obtaining the undisturbed soil sample shall be indicated in the bore log.
- e. Precaution shall be taken to ensure that there shall not be any change in moisture content and disturbance of the soil samples and they shall be placed in a temporary store at the end of the day's work. All the samples shall be kept over a bed of sand, jute bags, saw dust etc and covered over the top with similar material. The bed and top cover shall be kept moist till they are properly packed in wooden boxes. The contractor shall be responsible for packing and transporting of all the samples from site to the laboratory within seven days after sampling with proper protection against loss and damage

4.4.2 Disturbed Samples

- a. Disturbed soil samples shall be collected from cuttings and from split spoon sampler in boreholes at regular intervals to provide complete description of soil profile and its variation. The samples shall be immediately stored in airtight jars or polythene bags and labelled with borehole/trial pit number and depth.
- b. In elevated areas, if superficial material is available in plenty, then bulk samples from a depth of about 0.5m below ground level shall be collected to establish all required properties to use it as a fill material. Disturbed samples weighing about 250N shall be collected at shallow depths and immediately stored in polythene bags as per IS: 1892. The bags shall be sealed properly and shall be kept in wooden boxes.

4.4.3 Undisturbed Samples

Undisturbed samples of 100mm diameter shall be collected in clayey strata from all boreholes at intervals of 3.0m in depth or at every change of stratum whichever occurs earlier starting first UDS at 2.5m depth below existing ground level in soft to stiff clayey soil.

In adjacent boreholes depth of sample collections shall be staggered to cater for full layer. The area ratio of the sampling tubes shall not exceed 20%. In soft deposits, piston sampler shall be used to collect UDS. Quoted rates shall include transport of samples to the laboratory. Care shall be taken to minimize sample disturbance while collection of samples. Samples shall be collected preferably by pushing the sampler. Driving by hammer above ground level (like SPT) is not acceptable. However, for stiff/hard soil a sliding hammer can be used for driving the sampler at sampler head. In one borehole maximum four UDS samples should be collected.

4.4.4 Core samples of rock

Cores of rock shall be taken as specified in IS: 1892 and other relevant BIS Codes. For each run, Core Recovery and Rock Quality Designation (RQD) shall be noted carefully, immediately after cores are taken out of the barrel. The cores, arranged in core boxes, shall be submitted to the Engineer –in-charge, on submission of the report.

4.5 Ground Water

One of the following methods shall be adopted for determining the ground water table in bore holes as per IS: 6935 and as per the instructions of the engineer-in- charge.

- a. In permeable soils, the water level in borehole shall be allowed to stabilize after lowering it adequately by bailing. When water level inside the borehole is found to be stable, the depth of water level below ground level shall be measured. Stability of sides and bottom of the borehole shall be ensured at all times.
- b. For both permeable and impermeable soils, the following method shall be suitable. The borehole shall be filled with water and then bailed out to various depths. Observation on the rise or fall of water level shall be made at each depth. The level at which neither a fall nor a rise is observed shall be considered as the water table elevation. This shall be established by three successive readings of water level taken at an interval of two hours.

5.0 AUGER BORE HOLES

5.1 Drilling Bore Holes

In soils, boreholes of diameter 100mm to 150mm were drilled with the help of a posthole auger. Any loose soil was carefully removed from the bottom of the borehole so that the penetration test may be performed on an undisturbed surface of strata. Water table was recorded in each borehole, if met.

5.2 Sampling

The soil that was removed during drilling of boreholes was continuously examined and recorded for sign of change in the soil stratification a change in soil type is observed. The samples were collected for testing in the laboratory. Disturbed soil samples were collected during drilling operation as also from SPT tube. Undisturbed soil samples were collected at required depths in thin wall sampler tubes according to IS 2132.

Samples collected after refusal ($N > 100$) are disturbed samples.

Sampling tubes were waxed and sealed at both ends and carefully labeled and transported to laboratory for testing.

5.3 Standard Penetration Test

The Standard Penetration Test should be conducted in boreholes (in soil) following the standard procedure as per IS 2131 which specifies the procedure for conducting SPT for soils. The test has to be carried out using the standard split spoon sampler to measure the number of blows 'N'.

Standard split spoon sampler was attached to an 'A' rod. It was driven into the soil to a distance of 45 cm using a standard hammer of 63.5 kg falling freely from a height of 75 cm to the required depth. While driving, the number of blows required to penetrate every 15 cm are recorded. The total number of blows required for the last 30 cm is taken as 'N' value at that particular depth of the borehole. This value is then used for calculating the allowable bearing pressure of the soil.

6.0 LABORATORY TESTS

The laboratory tests shall essentially comprise of, but not limited to the following:

6.1 Grain Size Distribution

Wherever applicable both the sieve and hydrometer analysis shall be conducted to indicate complete range of grain sizes of soil samples tested.

6.2 Atterberg's Limits

Wherever applicable, these tests shall be carried out by the skilled personnel. The test result should include liquid limit, plastic limit and shrinkage limit of the soil samples tested. These tests should be conducted as per IS: 2720 Part V & VI.

6.3 Consolidation Tests

The tests shall be conducted for vertical drainage only. The following loading stages shall be employed:

0.1, 0.25, 0.50, 1.0, 2.0, 4.0, 8.0 kg/cm²

From e Vs $\log p$ curves, pre-consolidation pressure shall be determined to establish whether the soil is normally consolidated or over-consolidated. The point (e , p) showing initial condition of the soil under test must be specifically marked on the consolidation curves. Cycle(s) of loading, unloading and reloading shall be applied. The field virgin compression curve shall be established. Settlement predictions based on the field virgin compression curve shall only be acceptable. The procedure adopted in respect of obtaining compression indices from the field curve and that for computing settlements for the type of soil under consideration shall be clearly illustrated in the report. It is to be noted that deviations from the standard procedure of performing consolidation tests given in IS: 2720 Part XV are permissible in order to enable computation of settlements based on the above procedure. The following curves shall be included in the report:

1. e Vs $\log p$
2. e Vs p
3. Compression $v/s \log (t)$ or compression vs. square root t'

The choice of relationship depends upon the shape of the plot, which enables, clear determination of c_v , the coefficient of consolidation. The time period required for 50% & 90% primary consolidation shall be given in the report. p_c (pre-consolidation pressure) shall be clearly indicated in the e - $\log p$ curve. Values of m_v and c_v shall be furnished for different pressure ranges including the values of e_o , C_c & p_c in tabular form. Computation of secondary settlements, if significant, shall also be made and included in the report.

6.4 Triaxial Tests

These tests shall be done on specimen saturated by the application of backpressure. Only if the water table is at sufficient depth so that chances of its rising to the base of the footing are meager or nil, the triaxial tests shall be performed on specimens at natural moisture content. The magnitude of the backpressure applied shall be indicated in the report. Unconsolidated undrained/Consolidated undrained tests shall be carried out on the respective soil samples collected.

All the stress-strain diagrams as well as Mohr's circle envelopes shall be included in the report. Density and water content of the sample tested and modulus of elasticity along with shear strength parameters shall be reported.

Relevant corrections applied to the computed 'E' shall be clearly illustrated in the report.

In case the soils are predominantly sandy in nature and sampling is not possible for triaxial shear tests, box shear tests shall be carried out.

6.5 Free Swell Index

Wherever applicable, these tests shall be conducted on the selected soil samples collected from boreholes/trial pits from different depths, as per relevant IS codes (latest edition).

Other tests that are required as mentioned in Annex-B shall be conducted on the selected soil samples collected from boreholes/trial pits from different depths, as per relevant IS codes (latest edition).

7.0 REPORT / DELIVERABLES

Training should be continuous throughout a project and should include regular toolbox discussions, (on site briefings at the start of each working day/shift).

To this end, the Contractor must also ensure that specific hazards likely to be experienced on the Site, whether notified to them or discovered by them, are notified to their workforce together with any precautions to be taken and local rules to be observed. Similarly, such hazards should be notified to their Subcontractors and, where discovered by them, to OWNER/CONSULTANT.

- 14.2 Where particularly severe or unusual hazards may arise on site, OWNER/CONSULTANT reserves the right at no additional cost to request Contractors' employees to attend special safety training and instruction sessions, whether carried out on site or externally. OWNER/CONSULTANT also requires Contractors' employees to undergo specified induction safety training. These aspects should be checked prior to submission of Tenders or execution of the works.
